Discover the Diverse Faces of Taichung

Taichung is a city of vibrant contrasts, where each season greets you with gentle warmth and abundant natural beauty. In just a short drive, you can travel from the cosmopolitan heart of the city to verdant mountains, lush fields, or coastal sunsets.

Spanning from the Taiwan Strait to the mountain ranges, Taichung's unique landscape offers an array of experiences. For example, the western coastline stretches 48 kilometers, featuring the precious Gaomei Wetlands. In the mountainous areas, highlights include the century-old Guguan Hot Springs, the picturesque Wuling Farm along the Central Cross-Island Highway, and the sea of flowers in Xinshe. In downtown Taichung, historic landmarks like the Taichung Prefectural Hall, the former Taichung Prison Official Residence Cluster, and the Luce Memorial Chapel showcase a rich cultural heritage, while the National Taichung Theater epitomizes a world-class architectural masterpiece right in the city center. Taichung's extensive cycling paths, weaving through mountains, seas, and towns, make it a cyclist's paradise, boasting the longest network among Taiwan's six special municipalities. These attractions are easily accessible by bus and the Taichung MRT Green Line, making exploration convenient and enjoyable.

Since the publication of Taichung 29 Districts Fabulous Sights in 2020, the city's landscapes have continued to evolve, offering new and exciting vistas. This year, Explore Taichung from A to Z presents an updated version featuring 93 of the most iconic attractions across all districts. The collection includes beloved nostalgic scenes of old Taichung as well as trendy, up-and-coming destinations, capturing the city's beauty and the many profound experiences it offers.

Mayor Shioh-Yen Lu and the city government team are committed to enhancing Taichung's infrastructure, making the city more accessible and diverse with new attractions and events. These efforts, combined with innovations in the tourism industry, have helped Taichung stand out in numerous national surveys and become the highest domestic tourism favorability among Taiwan's six special municipalities. We warmly invite you to dive into the vibrant beauty of Taichung with this guide.

Explore Taichung from A to Z

“Mei-Hsiu, can you recommend some must-visit spots in Taichung?” Friends often ask me this question, and perhaps you’ve wondered the same: what are the must-see places in Taichung?

Is it the Gaomei Wetlands, a once-in-a-lifetime destination, or the National Taichung Theater, one of the world’s top nine new landmarks? Maybe it’s Fengchia Night Market, saturated with local delicacies, or the Dakeng Hiking Trails, winner of the FIABCI-Taiwan Real Estate Excellence Awards?

These are just some of Taichung’s famous attractions, beloved by both locals and visitors alike. The city has also seen creative and stunning transformations of historical buildings and urban spaces, infusing new energy and vitality. For example, the upcoming Da’an Gang Mazu Cultural Park is set to become a new highlight along Taiwan’s west coast, while the Huanshan Hunters’ Hiking Trail, built along ancient hunting paths, offers a unique hiking experience. Taichung Station Railway Cultural Park is a century-old national monument that exudes the unique charm. PARK2 is a trendy, relaxing urban retreat, and Central Park boasts lush greenery and diverse landscapes. Not to mention exciting new attractions such as the Taichung Green Museumbrary and the Taichung Aquarium, both set to open in 2025. Taichung offers countless ways to explore and experience its charm. Take your time to pause and discover the city’s beauty and inspiration.

Explore Taichung from A to Z showcases 93 remarkable attractions across Taichung’s 29 districts, categorized by theme creatively and arranged alphabetically from A to Z. The guide also features nearby attractions and Michelin-starred restaurants recommendations, paired with convenient transportation options such as the MRT Green Line, Taichung Tour Bus, and Taiwan Tourist Shuttle, creating a diverse array of travel routes.

With its rich tourism offerings and captivating allure, Taichung promises an unforgettable experience at every turn. After reading this book, you’ll be ready to rediscover and fully enjoy the wonders of Taichung!

路思義教堂

Luce Memorial Chapel

/ Xitun District

Located right inside Tunghai University, the Luce Memorial Chapel features four curved surfaces that are stacked into a structure similar to an upside-down barge. Designed by the Chinese-American architect I. M. Pei, who also designed the Luovre Pyramid, the Chapel is pillar-free. The light coming through a thin slit in the middle infuses the Chapel with serenity. The Chapel has long been a popular tourist attraction.

臺中市役所

Taichung Shiyakusho

/ West District

The arched doorways paired with grid windows are classic elements of Wayo-seccu fusion architecture from the Japanese colonial period that blend Eastern and Western styles. Taichung Shiyakusho, once a hub for governmental affairs under different administrations, has gracefully transformed into a space rich in history, now hosting exhibitions, leisure, and diverse dining experiences.

Scene 03

霧峰林家宮保第園區

Wufeng Lin Family Garden (Gong-Bao-Di)

/ Wufeng District

Being one of Taiwan's five powerful family clans during the Qing dynasty, the Wufeng Lin Family built residences and gardens that were and still are magnificent in size and design. Open to public viewing are three architecture pieces: Gongbaodi, Great Flower Hall and Caocuo.

Gongbaodi is Taiwan's only remaining mansion of a class-I imperial official in the Qing court. Great Flower Hall is a Fuzhou-style opera stage. Caocuo is a Sanheyuan-style thatched house to symbolize and commemorate the Lin family's humble beginnings.

后豐鐵馬道

Hou-Fong Bike Path

/ Houli District, Fengyuan District

Meandering through Tunnel No. 9, Hualiang Steel Bridge, Pilu Temple, farm houses, fields and the surging Dajia River, the Hou-Feng Bike Path takes in a wide variety of sceneries all along the way. As a closed-in bicycle path segregated from busy traffic, Hou-Feng Bike Path is Taichung's most popular bicycle path. Hou-Feng Bike Path re-built from old railway lines links with the Dongfeng Bicycle Green Way. As indicated by its name, the path is shaded with thick green foliage like a natural tunnel.

National Taiwan Museum of Comics

/ West District

What could be more captivating than the fusion of charming comics with fifteen traditional Japanese-style houses? This former National Taiwan Museum of Comics during the Japanese colonial period has been reimagined into a spacious leisure park. The museum showcases exhibits from Taiwan, Japan, and other countries, offering visitors a "comic feast" tour, complete with guided heritage walks and dining experiences.

Pan Ding Church

/ Longjing District

Shaped exteriorly like Noah's ark, Pan Ding Church is like a house out of the Mediterranean. As one of Taiwan's three boat-shaped churches, Pan Ding Church draws inspiration from Biblical stories to deliver a message of eternal life beyond philosophical musings. The church exterior is covered by a boat-shaped arc gate. Seen from any angle, the church makes for a unique photograph.

主顧聖母堂

Our Lady of Providence Chapel

/ Shalu District

Our Lady of Providence Chapel in Providence University featuring 4 arc-shaped walls draws inspiration from bamboo and bamboo shoots that symbolize integrity and humility. The sun shines on the glass cross on the rooftop to produce a nice dance of light and shadow. From the sky, the chapel is shaped like a fish along with a straight path leading to the entrance. With Biblical imageries ingeniously embedded in all details, the Chapel has become a new popular landmark.

石頭公園生態休閒農場

Stone Park Eco Leisure Farm

/ Waipu District

Once a popular dating spot in the 1970s, this site was abandoned for years before being transformed into a leisure farm. Its dilapidated, vintage amusement rides have been retained, becoming a hotspot for photographers, offering a unique "ruins aesthetic."

立法院民主議政園區

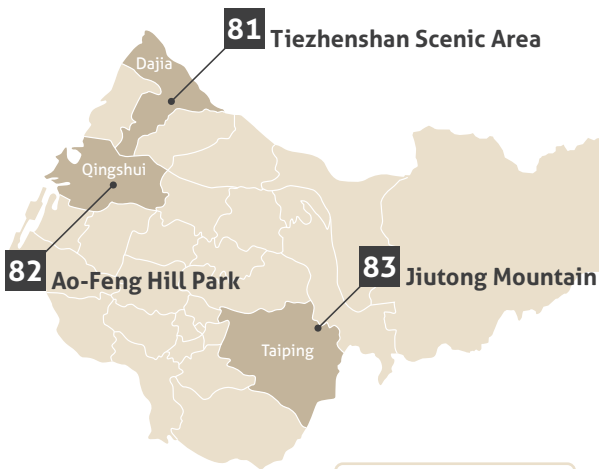

Democratic Assembly Affairs Park, Legislative Yuan

/ Wufeng District

From its early days as the temporary Provincial Assembly and Provincial Government to its current status as the Legislative Yuan Democratic Times Museum, the Democratic Assembly Affairs Park in Wufeng District stands as a living testament to Taiwan's democratic development. It is the only museum in Taiwan dedicated to the history of democratic governance and legislation.

鐵砧山風景區

Tiezhenshan Scenic Area

/ Dajia District

Scene

This saying illustrates the importance of Tiezhenshan to Dajia: "one has not been to Dajia without visiting Tiezhenshan." Tiezhenshan has a high density of forests. When you walk up the mountain trails and enter the newly renovated sculpture park to admire the sunset, you will be amazed by its magnificent view.

鰲峰山運動公園

Ao-Feng Hill Park

/ Qingshui District

Close to the mountains and the oceans, Aofengshan Sports Park offers a 180-degree panoramic view of Gaomei Wetland and Wuqi Fishing Harbor. Over here, you can admire the ocean during the day and watch the sunset at dusk, plus a stunning night view of the Taichung city that will bowl you over with its romantic, spiritually-expanding appeal.

酒桶山

Jitong Mountain

/ Taiping District

Scene 83

Jitong (meaning Nine Barrels in Mandarin) Mountain looks like nine barrels that connect together for its nine undulating peaks. Industrial roads meander to and fro along the hillsides. From the observation deck one can take in the entire view of the greater Taichung, Zhanghua and Nantou along with the mountains, hills, and boats along the river on the Taiwan Straits. Over here you can enjoy seas of clouds during the day, an orange sunset at dusk, and a fabulous nighttime view in the evening.

There's something soothing about being near water. The breeze from the sea lifts your spirits.

康橋水岸公園

Kangqiao Waterfront Park

/ Dali District

After undergoing irrigation revampment, Hanxi River is now complete with a waterfront infrastructure, e.g. plaza, green belt, fish ladder, bike path, and wetlands. In particular, the newly erected NCHU Kang Bridge sitting across Hanxi River stands out as a reminder of bridges in Cambridge in the UK. During the day, the clouds in the sky are reflected in the mirror-like clear water along with the bridge. At night, the bridge is lit up on both sides.

梧棲漁港

Wuqi Fishing Harbor

/ Qingshui District

As a tourism-focused fishing port, Wuqi offers much more than scenic views; it's all about experiences. Enjoy the freshest seafood at the fish market, embark on a yacht cruise, pose for photos in front of the 3D murals that make you feel like you're underwater, and witness fishermen and fishmongers bartering at the market's direct sales center—Taichung's very own version of the famed Tsukiji Market!

第二市場

Taichung Second Market

/ Central District

Many Taichung locals insist on starting their day with a satisfying breakfast at Second Market! This hexagon-shaped, radiating structure dating from the Japanese colonial era is home to a treasure trove of famous eats. From braised pork rice, black tea, radish cake, and scallion pancakes to meatballs, steamed buns, and Yi noodles, this place offers the full spectrum of "Taichung-style breakfast." Every dish here is a must-try!

Fengchia Night Market

/ Xitun District

Welcome to Taiwan's largest night market! Whether it's takoyaki, yakisoba-pan (pan-fried noodle filled buns), or the iconic Taiwanese sausage wrapped in sticky rice sausage, all the night market classics can be found here. In addition to indulging in food and drinks, don't forget to have some fun! You'll find all the latest fashion trends and accessories here, making it a one-stop destination for shopping and entertainment.

豐原廟東復興商圈

Fengyuan Miaodong Fuxing Commercial District

/ Fengyuan District

Scene

Located beside Fengyuan Cih Ji Temple, the commercial district is more commonly known as Miaodong Night Market. This food haven is regarded as a hidden gem that "only Taichung oldtimers know." Though it stretches just a few hundred meters and some stalls are tucked away in narrow alleys, it's bustling with crowds daily. The top three must-tries, namely pork rib noodles, pineapple ice, and oyster omelette, are made with decades of dedication by the owners and are absolutely worth a try!

菩薩寺

International Bodhisattva Sangha

/ Dali District

Hidden behind a wooden archway is a fair-faced square concrete building covered with crawling vines. It's actually a temple, and not a tea house. Awarded with many design accolades, the International Bodhisattva Sangha is a combination of a religious edifice and an artistic expression. When copying sutra inscriptions in the temple, one can go as far as imagining that everything you write in this space will automatically turn into refined calligraphy.

寶覺禪寺

Baojue Temple

/ North District

Baojue Temple is dedicated to the three Buddhas: Shakyamuni, Bhaisajyaguru and Amitābha. On the grounds of the temple stands a giant 30-meter-tall smiling white Buddha, which is very visually striking and can be seen from a distance, thus becoming a local focal point.
